

Many times while traveling through India, our teams would August 2025

stop at a small village church; some churches have walls and roofs, while others do not. However, the beauty of a church is found in its members living out their faith before God. Pictured here is a member of a small church located in a fishing village. She shared her testimony with me and explained how she was paralyzed for ten years and how God intervened in her life and made her whole again. There were no theatrics, no fanfare; God simply and graciously restored her health. Hearing her story firsthand was deeply impactful; she encouraged me, explaining how the Lord hears her prayers and how He interacts with her daily. I hope your heart is encouraged, likewise, by hearing her testimony, and I pray that you, too, may encourage others with the testimony that God has given you.
