An Anchor For The Soul

Love must be sincere. Hate what is evil; cling to what is good (Romans 12:9). Where do you draw your principles from? For the believer in Christ, the answer is clear: the written Word of God alone. Yet it does not take a genius to see that the norms of modern society often stand in direct opposition to that truth. Therefore, when culture and Scripture collide, the believer is faced with a choice—conform to the world’s shifting standards or remain anchored to God’s unchanging Word.

A truth I have embraced is that God’s Word is eternal and true. It is without error and unmatched in its ability to guide, correct, and direct those who belong to Christ. When the world seems to be imploding, the believer stands on a firm foundation in the Word of God—right, true, and complete, lacking nothing needed for faith and life. Let us, as followers of Christ, continue to stand firm in our faith and take comfort in the Word of God.
