A Door of Opportunity

The apostle Paul once asked others to pray that God would open a door for him to proclaim the gospel, as he ought (Col 4:4). That thought struck me deeply. Here was a man bold in faith, yet still dependent on God to create the opportunity.

I've often admired those who courageously share their testimony so that others might come to know Christ. Yet many of us have prayed for such opportunities and wondered why the moment never seemed to come. Others long for their loved ones to know Christ but feel unsure of what to say or how to begin.

But what if God does open that door?

When He does, we are not called to have all the perfect words. We are simply called to walk through in obedience, with hearts full of gratitude. Tell others what God has done for you. Share it plainly and sincerely. The power is not in our ability to explain—it is in the truth of the gospel itself.

When the door opens, step through it. Trust God for the results.
